

List of Contributors

in the Special Issue Folklore and Folk Narrative in Latin American Contexts

DANIEL ORLANDO DÍAZ BENAVIDES is an Anthropologist with doctoral studies in Social Sciences from the National University of San Marcos in Lima, Perú, with a Master's degree in Andean Anthropology and in Gender, Sexuality and Public Policies. Author of Bodies and Folklore(s): Inheritances, Constructions and Performances (Cuerpos y Folklores: herencias, construcciones y performances), 2012. General coordinator of the IV Latin American Meeting of researchers on bodies and corporalities in cultures. Specialist in folk themes and scientific research on dance.

ANA MARÍA DUPEY is an Anthropologist and PhD in Sociology. Professor and researcher at the University of Buenos Aires. Professor of the Postgraduate Diploma in Folklore, Identity and Society (National University of Tucumán, Argentina). Advisor to the National Institute of Anthropology and Latin American Thought, Argentina. Vice President of the National Academy of Folklore. Book editor and author of: Harvesting All the Voices. Folklore, Identities and Territories (Cosechando todas las voces. Folklore, identidades y territorios), 2018; Borders of Folklore Identities and Territorialities (Fronteras del Folklore. Identidades y territorialidades), 2020, and Images, Altars and Chapels in Loreto, Corrientes (Imágenes, altares y capillas en Loreto, Corrientes), 2021.

FERNANDO FISCHMAN (PhD in Anthropology, Buenos Aires University) teaches at Buenos Aires University. He is a researcher for CONICET (National Scientific and Technical Research Council) at the Institute of Research in Latin American Social Sciences of the Latin American Faculty of Social Sciences. He has published extensively in international journals (Journal of Folklore Research, Ilha, Revista de Investigaciones Folklóricas, Estudios sobre las Culturas Contemporáneas, Yeda Am). His main research interests are verbal art, performance theory, Jewish-Argentine folklore and migrations.

LUCIANA HARTMANN, PhD in Social Anthropology (Federal University of Santa Catarina, Brazil), is a Professor at University of Brasilia, Brazil; visiting scholar at Paris Nanterre University (2014) and University of Lisbon (2020). Author of Gesto, palavra e memória: performances de contadores de causos

(Gesture, Word and Memory: Performances by Storytellers), 2011, and Crianças contadoras de histórias (Children Storytellers), 2021.

BARBARA IVANČIČ KUTIN is Research Fellow (PhD) at the Institute of Slovenian Ethnology at the Scientific Research Centre of the Slovenian Academy of Sciences and Arts, Ljubljana, Slovenia. Her research interests include folk narratives in terms of their performance and language. Her approach encompasses folkloristic, ethnological, and dialectological methods. Her research is mainly based on her own fieldwork. She is the author of numerous scientific articles and three scientific monographs: Slovar bovškega govora (The Dictionary of the Bovec Dialect), 2007; Živa pripoved v zapisu. Kontekst, tekstura in prekodiranje pripovedi Tine Kravanja iz Bavšice (A Written Record of Live Storytelling: Context Texture and Transcoding of Stories Told Live by Tina Kravanja from Bavšica), 2011, and Krivopete. Divje žene z nazaj zasukanimi stopali v slovenski folklori (Krivopete. Wild Women with Backward-facing Feet in the Slovenian Folklore, 2018, for which she received the title "Excellent in Science", awarded by the Slovenian Research Agency.

SABRINA MACIEL is an advanced student of Letters at the National University of Formosa, Argentina. She has a scholarship from the Interuniversity National Council (Consejo Interuniversitario Nacional) under the supervision of Prof. Dr. Alejandra Vidal. Her research interests include narrative and verbal art among the people of the Gran Chaco, Argentina.

MARIA INES PALLEIRO (PhD) is a visiting professor of the Postgraduate Seminar Orality and Discourse Analysis at Buenos Aires University and she has been full professor of Methodology of Folklore Research at the National University of Arts, Buenos Aires. She has been a visiting professor at Salerno University, Italy, and lecturer at the Ljubljana University, Slovenia, lecturer and visiting researcher at Tartu University, Estonia, and at the Ethnology Institute of the Slovenian Academy of Sciences and Arts. She is a senior researcher in Folk Narrative of the National Scientific and Technical Research Council Argentina, and Vice President for Latin America of the International Society for Folk Narrative Research (ISFNR). She is an author of more than two hundred chapters in books, proceedings and articles in indexed publications, and twenty books dealing with Folk Narrative, Social Beliefs and Discourse Analysis. She has been a co-editor of Acta Ethnographica Hungarica. An International Journal of Sociocultural Anthropology.

RENATA DE LIMA SILVA (KABILAEWATALA), PhD in Arts (State University of Campinas, São Paulo, Brazil), is a Professor at Federal University of Goiás, Goiânia, Goiás, Brazil. She is an author of Corpo Limiar e Encruzilhadas – processo de criação em dança (Body Threshold and Crossroads – Process of Creation in Dance), 2012, and Black Performance and Body Dramaturgy in Capoeira Angola (Performance Negra e Dramaturgia do Corpo na Capoeira Angola), 2021.

ALEJANDRA VIDAL (PhD 2001, University of Oregon) is a linguist, full professor of Linguistics at the National University of Formosa and Independent Researcher for the National Scientific and Technical Research Council (CONICET) since 2004. She has done field research in Bolivia, Argentina and Paraguay, with a focus on Guaykuran (Pilagá) and Mataguayan (Wichi and Nivaçle) languages. Her publications address different topics in the grammar and discourse in Chaco languages. She is Director of the Institute of Research in Language, Society and Territory at the National University of Formosa and General editor of RASAL Lingüística, a periodical open journal of the Argentine Society of Linguistics.

CRISTIAN YÁÑEZ AGUILAR holds a PhD in Human Sciences, in the field of Discourse and Culture, from the Austral University of Chile (scholarship holder of National Commission of Science and Technology of Chile). He has participated of the Folklore Fellows' Summer School, University of Eastern Finland. He is a member of the Brazilian Network of Folkcommunication (Red Folkcom), and an Associate Academician at the Institute of Social Communication of the Austral University of Chile.

MERCEDES ZAVALA GÓMEZ DEL CAMPO, holds a PhD in Hispanic Literature from The College of Mexico A.C. (Colmex). She is a full professor-researcher, since 2006, at the Literature Studies Department at College of San Luis, Mexico – CONACYT (San Luis Potosí, Mexico). She is a member of the Research Group on Oral Traditional Literature of Mexico of the Hispanic World. Her work is focused on the collection, edition and analysis of ballads, corridos, folktales and legends of different regions of the Mexican oral tradition. Some of her publications include: The Voice. Oral Traditional Literature in the Central-North Mexico (La Voz. Literatura de tradición oral del centro-norte de México), 2021; La leyenda: Aproximaciones a un género 'casi inasible', Revista de Literaturas Populares XX, 1/2, 2020: 185–221, and The Handbook on the Collection of Oral Traditional Literature (Manual para la recolección de literatura de tradición oral, with Alejandra Camacho Ruán), 2018.